answering the call for public safety furniture solutions

Public safety furniture redefined

At Russ Bassett we are taking public safety furniture beyond ordinary. We've taken our 30 years of mission critical 24/7 console design experience combined with the demanding needs of public safety industry end users to design the most innovative dispatch console system on the market. The true modular console design of Desience Dispatch sets the new standard for public safety furniture durability, functionality and flexibility.

- Modular Ergonomic Design
- Unparalleled Structural Integrity
- Advanced Technology Integration
- Generous Work Areas
- Customization Options

Desience Dispatch incorporates innovative product design features and unlimited configuration options.

Emergency Operation Center

A complete new approach to the design of communication console furniture

Modular design for unlimited flexibility

From a single position configuration to an advanced dispatch control facility, we can design a communications center that best suits your unique operational requirements while providing flexible, productive workspaces. The modular base structure features heavy duty steel construction for unmatched durability to withstand the rigors of 24/7 dispatch environments and accommodates CPU storage, rack mount equipment and filing pedestals. Our advanced monitor arms are suspended on a slat wall system and raise and lower with the primary work surface as it is electronically adjusted, freeing up the work surface for its intended use and not a monitor storage platform.
